Maritime Week Africa 2026

Building on the discussions in Mauritius in 2025, Maritime Week Africa 2026 will reexamine the challenges facing South Africa as a viable bunkering hub and address wider environmental and geopolitical issues impacting African shipping. High-level contributions are anticipated from the Department of Transport, Transnet National Ports Authority, SAMSA, and the South African Revenue Service (SARS), alongside leading industry representatives.

The conference will also explore bunkering and shipping markets across Africa, including offshore regions and neighbouring islands.
